Shaping the future of safe, quality health services for Powys

Introduction

Powys Teaching Health Board helps people to stay well or to treat people who are ill or hurt

There are lots of things today which make it harder for us to help people.

We have made a plan about how we are going to help improve things.

We want to tell you about our plan.

There are big things happening that we want to deal with.

People in Powys are getting older, which means they need more help.

More people now have lots of different things they need help with.

The people who help to make people better are getting older too.

Some people have to wait a long time to get help from a hospital.

These are some of the things we want to do:

Stopping people getting sick in the first place by helping people to keep fit and healthy.

Looking after the mental health of people who are sick or hurt.

Working with other organisations to help people who are near the end of their lives.

Supporting pharmacies, dentists, opticians and local doctors and their teams.

Treating people in Powys where we can so they don't need to go to big hospitals further away.

Letting people take some tests at home so they don't need to come to hospital.

Making sure people know how to stay well after an operation.

Having operations in Powys hospitals so people can go home the same day.

Helping people to recover from operations at home.

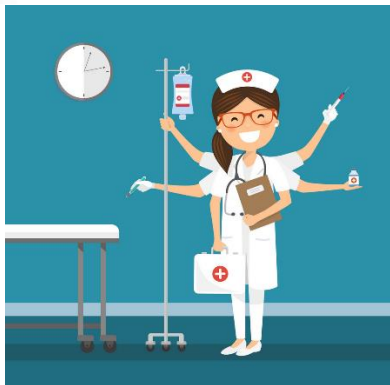

Asking people what they want so we can find new ways to work.

Bringing old and young people together.

Using computers and the internet for help with health and care

Having a mix of staff who can do different things

We want to know what you think!

You can tell us what you think is good and bad with health services.

You can tell us your ideas about how to improve them.

We will listen and try and make changes that help. Don't forget to fill out the survey.
