Dear

I am writing to inform you that the screening test you had for Down's Syndrome showed you have a low chance of your baby having this condition.

This does not mean that there is no chance of your baby having this condition, but the chance of this happening is:

1: Chance of Down's Syndrome.

No further tests are recommended.

Information about Combined screening results are the "Information for women Pack" and on www.antenatalscreening.org.

If you would like further information, you can contact a midwife on the following number:

01874 622443

Or a midwife will explain the results to you when she sees you at your next antenatal clinic appointment.

Please can you file this letter in your hand-held records.

Yours Sincerely

Midwife
